

Quality Sustenance and Quality Enhancement

Our College is founded by DES which has a track record of excellent academic tradition of last 125 years. Our College was thoughtfully established as one of the pioneering Commerce colleges in South Maharashtra in 1960.

We have established an Internal Quality Assurance Cell (IQAC) in 2004. All sub-committees in CCCS furnish their activity reports to IQAC for its consideration and guidance.

Faculty Development : During last 5 years, we have taken conscious efforts for faculty development. Four of our teachers have completed successfully their PhD work and two others have obtained MPhil. Additionally, some teachers have also completed Minor and Major research projects. Today, more than 50% of our faculty members are actively involved in research. Our faculty members have also attended Refresher Courses and other training programmes.

Students' Participation in Research : Research culture in our College is also being developed among students. In all, 97 students have completed their research projects as a part of PG course. Further, UG students are also taking part in field research through our Commerce Laboratory.

Feedback from Stakeholders : Our College has developed systematic mechanism to obtain feedback from different stakeholders. Students' feedback on faculty, past students' opinions about the College, parents' views and expectations are being received from time to time. This feedback is analysed and discussed among faculty members during our staff meetings.

Horizontal and Vertical Academic Mobility : CCCS has made conscious efforts to achieve horizontal as well as vertical mobility in its academic programme offerings. At UG as well as PG, there are different options for specialization. During last 5 years, we have started a professional course named BBA. Further, add-on courses on need basis for short term duration have been conducted successfully.

Involvement of Alumni : CCCS is proud of the fact that it has produced a galaxy of past students who are occupying prominent positions in the public life. The involvement of the past students in the activities and for the development of the College is obvious. The PSA has been registered as a public trust and the College has allotted office space for the PSA on the College campus. Further, the College has recently published a directory of professionals titled 'Professional Chintamanis'. They are invited from time to time to deliver guest lectures for students as well as for practical training in their organizations.
